Prema Versomat Coin

The new self-service deposit machine for coins.

The new self-service deposit machine for coins from PREMA combines proven Swiss precision and quality with cutting-edge technology. With its large capacity and a high level of availability, this standalone solution frees up your customer advisors considerably.

PREMA Cash Handling Systems stands for high quality and innovation. Developed and manufactured at the company's headquarters in Oftringen, the Versomat Coin is operated offline and guarantees maximum availability.

It is placed in the foyer of the bank and thus does not require any costly structural modifications. Customers are credited for the amount they have paid in on presentation of the receipt printed by the machine.

Operating the Versomat Coin is extremely easy and self-explanatory. Moreover, a modern 7-inch display screen guides customers step-by-step through the deposit process. Eight large-capacity coin holders collect the coins that are paid in by the customers and which are counted and sorted by denomination by the PREMA machine. Staff at the bank counter can empty the machine as and when required by opening its lockable front doors.

Coins are counted based on two independent checking criteria (alloy and diameter). The method used to sort the coins is also extremely reliable thanks to tried-and-tested PREMA technology using a horizontal transport system.
